Summary

Film and TV Director, working on series, serial television and film. I've directed high-end drama, completed tight schedules and worked as lead director, filming in HD and film, including super 16mm. I've trained in script development and editing and have worked with actors on the screen and in the theatre - my original background. I've also taken crews abroad and filmed large stunts and reconstructions including a train crash, a life boat rescue off the coast of Scotland, a car crash and house fire. Most recently, wanting to additionally direct some of my own projects, I've developed and directed four short films and have been developing a number of feature films. My recent short What Happened to Evie won 3 International prestigious awards as well as many nominations and further awards.
